Randall in Governor Race, LeVander to Follow Tonight

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
William Randall has announced he seeks the Republican nomination for governor, Harold LeVander is expected to do the same tonight, and State Rep. Walter Klaus has bowed out as a candidate for the gubernatorial nomination.

Randall, 49, now in his second term as Ramsey County attorney in St. Paul, announced his decision at a news conference Saturday. He said he would base his campaign on his concern over "lack of moral values" in state government.

LeVander, a South St. Paul lawyer, is expected to announce formally his candidacy at a testimonial dinner tonight.

Still to be heard from is former Gov. Elmer L. Andersen, St. Paul, the man ousted by 91 votes from the governorship by Democratic-Farmer-Laborite Gov. Karl F. Rolvaag in 1963.

Andersen, in a 1949 special election, defeated Randall for a state Senate seat.

Harry P. Strong Jr., GOP chairman of the 4th District, where Randall and Andersen both live, said he doubts Andersen will become an active candidate for endorsement by the Republican state convention.

"I think Elmer has just waited too long and I think it's important to have another man in the field," Strong said. "I still feel that Elmer is the strongest candidate we can field, but in my opinion it's too late for Elmer."

Randall was told at his news conference that some Ramsey County and 4th District leaders have indicated a fondness for Andersen. Randall answered that the GOP leaders also want a candidate who is running, and he added, "I am the candidate who is ready and willing to go."

Klaus, 53, of Farmington, was the first to announce for the endorsement but he pulled out Sunday night. He said he wanted to devote his time to the issue of legislative reapportionment.

The Conservative lawmaker was the author of the measure from which evolved the reapportionment bill passed by the 1965 Legislature. Gov. Rolvaag vetoed the bill, claiming it gerrymandered in favor of Conservative incumbents, and Klaus was among nine representatives who challenged the veto in court.

The State Supreme Court upheld the governor's veto power Nov. 26.

Reapportionment now is a deadlocked issue. Rolvaag has insisted legislative leaders draw up guidelines for a special session, and Conservatives have balked at the demand.

Asserting the reapportionment measure passed by the 1965 Legislature was "basically sound," Klaus said he expects to have an active part in resolving the issue.

Klaus has served in the Legislature since 1956 and is a former GOP chairman in the 2nd District.

HOPE TO GO UP LATER... Astronauts Water Schirra, left, and Thomas Stafford, right, are expected to leave launch pad at Cape Kennedy, Fla., after their flight in Gemini 6 spacecraft was postponed until at least Wednesday or Thursday.

New Gemini 6 Try Set for Wednesday

SPACE CENTER, Houston, Tex. (AP) — The Gemini 7 astronauts beat a smooth, record-shattering trail through space today with eyes on a Wednesday date with Gemini 6.

The newly crowned kings of manned space flight, Air Force Lt. Col. Frank Borman and Navy Cmdr. James A. Lovell Jr., sped nine days deep into their 14-day journey dressed "the only way to fly" — in nothing but underwear.

This is Gemini 7, your friendly target vehicle, standing by," Borman messaged earth after the U.S. Sunday space spectacular stalled in a cloud of pink-tinted rocket exhaust.

The Titan II rocket never was lifted into space after a mechanical failure brought about the delay. The two had hoped to rendezvous in space with Frank Borman and James Lovell who continue to orbit the earth in Gemini 7. (AP Photofax)

The Gemini 6 pilots, Navy Capt. Walter M. Schirra Jr. and Air Force Maj. Thomas F. Stafford, saw their 103,000-mile space hunt and rendezvous with Gemini 7 foiled before they left the launch pad at Cape Kennedy, Fla. A false signal shut off the launch rocket's engines.

Already-tired launch crews worked around the clock today to ready Gemini 6 for another pursuit try at 8:37 a.m. (EST) Wednesday. It can be fired as late as Saturday.

Borman and Lovell got orders to conserve fuel to insure them enough power to maintain their spacecraft's attitude toward the end of their space voyage. This meant an abbreviated experiment schedule and much drifting flight.

Light conversation flowed between the spacemen and earth as ground controllers attempted to boost the spacemen's spirits after the sudden scrub of the Gemini 6 launch.

A spacecraft radio was tuned to Sunday afternoon professional football games.

If it had not been for cool, expert, split-second decisions by Schirra and Stafford in the face of potential danger — and maybe death — the chance at a repeat attempt would have vanished.

"They're cleared for takeoff," Mission Control advised Gemini 7, passing overhead shortly before the 9:54 a.m. lift-off time.

"Adios," control told Schirra and Stafford.

Congress Will Check Interest

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress takes an official look today at the interest rate hike which placed the Federal Reserve Board in direct conflict with President Johnson on economic policy.

The Senate-House Economic Committee opens hearings on the increase, calling Chairman William McChesney Martin Jr. and the other members of the Federal Reserve Board as first witnesses.

The chairman of the committee, Rep. Wright Patman, D-Tex., said in an interview he believes the Federal Reserve's real motive for the increase was not to ward off inflation or improve the international standing of the dollar but to "bail out the New York banks which have $15 billion in certificates of deposit coming due."

Patman, who has been demanding the Federal Reserve Board chairman's resignation for months, said, "It will be a miracle if Martin hangs on."

Patman said the banks wanted a higher interest rate for the certificates, a special form of deposit for a fixed time on which banks normally pay higher than regular interest.

"They thought they might have trouble getting the certificates unless they could pay 5 1/2 per cent," Patman said.

However, the senior Republican member of the committee, Sen. Jacob K. Javits of New York, disassociated himself from Patman's accusation, as well as from the chairman's long-term efforts to subject the Federal Reserve, an independent agency, to government controls.

"I don't agree with what the Federal Reserve did in this case," Javits said in a separate interview, "but I think it is very important for the Federal Reserve to maintain its independence. I think the force of public opinion at hearings like this will do what is necessary for correction. Any legislative action would impair the Federal Reserve's independence."

The Federal Reserve Board announced on Dec. 5 an increase in the discount rate from 4 to 4 1/4 per cent and an increase from 4 1/2 to 5 1/2 per cent in the ceiling on interest rates banks can pay on time deposits. Johnson promptly expressed his displeasure.

Man Admits Setting Fire, Killing 13

CHICAGO (AP) — "I just got mad. They shouldn't have thrown me out."

This was the explanation of Robert Lee Lassiter as he admitted using a borrowed match to touch off a fire Saturday night which killed 13 persons and injured 22 in a West Side tavern.

Lassiter, 26, of Chicago, was charged Sunday with 13 counts of murder.

Lassiter, a laborer for an electric company, told police that he splashed a gallon of gasoline in the door of the Seelye Club on West Madison Street, then borrowed a match to ignite it.

The incident that touched off the fire, Lassiter said, was an argument with Eddie Gaston, 38, a waiter at the club. Witnesses said Lassiter had been flourishing a large switchblade knife and Gaston told him to put it away.

The two men grappled with arguing, and Lassiter was forced to leave.

"I'll be back and they're going to get it," witnesses quoted Lassiter as saying as he left.

Gaston was among the seven men and six women killed in the blaze.

Police quoted Lassiter as saying he then walked a few hundred feet to a service station and purchased a can of gasoline. Police said Lassiter splashed the fuel on the floor at the entrance, then poured a trail of gasoline across the sidewalk to the gutter.

Viet Cong Pull Back to Hideouts

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — A task force of U.S. Marines and Vietnamese troops, teamed against the Viet Cong in a five-day battle south of Da Nang, estimated today ground and air strikes have killed about 1,000 of the Red enemy. Action was dwindling.

Marine patrols, moving through hills in the Que Son sector, found a guerrilla training area and some warehouses full of gray and black cloth, obviously designed for manufacture of the flimsy pajamas many Viet Cong use as uniforms.

The claim about enemy casualties was not broken down as to direct attack, artillery fire and aerial bombing. Whether it would be borne out by body count remained to be seen.

Major ground fighting elsewhere also ebbed. U.S. briefing officers said the Viet Cong may be pulling back to their jungle hideouts to recover.

With partially clearing skies, U.S. warplanes resumed raids on North Viet Nam after a two-day lull blamed on bad weather.

Air Force F105 Thunderchief and F4C Phantom jets blasted two bridges northeast of Dien Bien Phu, set a five-building military complex in the same area aflame and cratered the approaches to another bridge on a main highway 130 miles northwest of Hanoi, a U.S. spokesman said.

Navy pilots claimed another bridge, two storage areas and four anti-aircraft sites 14 miles northwest of the coastal town of Dong Hoi, he added.

In the battle area south of Da Nang, U.S. Marines and South Vietnamese troops hunted a Viet Cong regiment on the sixth day of Operation Harvest Moon but the foe refused to show himself.

Since the fighting began around a valley 20 miles south of Da Nang, the Leathernecks counted 198 Viet Cong killed, 76 captured and 287 suspects detained, Marine spokesmen said.

Officers regarded the lull warily. "I don't think the major fighting has started," said the U.S. Marine commander in Viet Nam, Maj. Gen. Lewis Walk.

U.S. officials took considerable satisfaction at the surrender of a 22-man Viet Cong platoon, with 11 weapons, to men of the U.S. 173rd Airborne Brigade at Vo Dat, 60 miles northeast of Saigon. They counted the defection as a major achievement for U.S. intelligence and psychological warfare experts and Vietnamese national police who negotiated the surrender.

It was described as the biggest Viet Cong defection in many months.

In the Marine action, the Leathernecks took over the high ground near the rice hamlet of Que Son. Air Force B52s from Guam pummeled the suspected lair of a Communist regiment in the area, 350 miles northeast of Saigon, for the second time since the operation began last Wednesday.

Walk said the attempt to encircle and wipe out the force of 2,000 hard-core Communist troops had been launched to forestall an attack on the Marine beachhead at Chu Lai, 52 miles southeast of Da Nang.

"The Viet Cong were planning to attack our positions and we felt we should attack first and destroy their capability," he said.

Sleet Storm In Dakotas, Wires Down

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A blanket of wintry weather — snow, rain, sleet and fog — stretched across the continent today.

A sleet storm paralyzed portions of the Dakotas and western Minnesota, knocking out telephone communications and isolating some communities without power.

Snow, rain and fog snarled traffic and caused many accidents.

A Greyhound bus en route to New Orleans went off a highway during a rainstorm Sunday near Pensacola, Fla., killing four persons and injuring 19.

An Air Canada four-engine turbo-prop revved its engines just before it was to take off from O'Hare International Airport in Chicago for Toronto, Ont., Sunday. The plane skidded off the runway and became stuck in mud. The 71 passengers were transferred to another plane.

A pilot apparently became lost in the fog near White Plains, N.Y., Sunday and was killed when his plane crashed.

Snow fell on the ice-coated eastern section of North Dakota and northwestern Minnesota.

The Northwestern Bell Telephone Co. said at least 20,000 wire breaks were reported in South Dakota Sunday. The company said more than 2,000 telephone poles had snapped under the ice loads. The company sent 520 workers from four states to repair the damage.

A telephone company spokesman reported 40 per cent of the exchanges in the Fargo, N.D., district were out of order Sunday night.

He said more than 80 North Dakota towns were affected by broken lines and poles and that it would be Wednesday before service is back to normal. Nearly 300 men were reported working to restore communications.

Air traffic was stopped at Friendship International Airport in Baltimore for 12 hours Sunday. Shipping in the port of Baltimore was paralyzed, and only one of the nine ships due to sail departed. Highway travel was hazardous because of thick fog.

Light freezing rain and sleet fell in northeastern New York state and 22 inches of snow accumulated in Albany. Roads were slick, but traffic accidents were light.

Farm Couple Wounded, Son Is Held

RED WING, Minn. (AP) — A Goodhue County farm couple was peppered with shotgun pellets today and officers said they were holding for questioning the 26-year-old son of the victims.

Hospitalized at Zumbrota for treatment of thigh and leg wounds, reported not serious, were Mr. and Mrs. George Hamlin, farming near Pine Island.

Sheriff Paul Zillig said their son, Arlyn, surrendered without resistance when tracked into a small grove on the farm.

Zillig said Arlyn was arguing with his three sisters, one 17 and twins 15, when he grabbed up a shotgun and started random firing. The elder Hamlin ran to a neighbor for assistance and Dale Schaefer returned home with him.

The girls had fled the house but Arlyn was inside, resisting efforts of his mother to disarm him. When Schaefer sought to grab the gun away from the suspect, it discharged and both Mr. and Mrs. Hamlin were hit with the scattering pellets.

Ten Tons of Cement Going To Viet Home

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ten tons of cement may not sound very appropriate for a Christmas gift, but it's going to make a group of Vietnamese orphans and their American soldier benefactors mighty happy.

The unlikely gift leaves here today with a trainload of other Christmas gifts for U.S. fighting men in Viet Nam and the Vietnamese people—and here is how it came about.

Warrant Officer Jim Askren's 155th Helicopter Company came across a Vietnamese orphanage consisting basically of thatched huts with mud floors somewhere near Saigon. They decided to "adopt" the kids and fix up the orphanage.

Lumber was plentiful and they were able to get all the other materials they needed through Army channels—except cement for the floors.

Askren, a helicopter pilot, happened to mention this in a letter to his father, James Sr., in Bellefontaine, Ohio.

That was all the senior Askren needed. He contacted some fellow businessmen who guaranteed to put up the money needed to buy the cement. Then they contacted the Southwestern Cement Co. of Fairborn, near Dayton, which agreed to provide the cement at its cost—$1 a bag, two hundred bags were needed. The group found out about the Junior Chamber of Commerce drive to fill a Christmas train for Viet Nam. Problem solved!

Because of the problems involved in getting the cement to the State Fairgrounds here, from where the train is leaving today, Southwestern Cement contacted its affiliated Columbus Coal and Lime Co., which agreed to provide it instead.

Let's Get Growing

By A. F. SHIRA

Some Plant Relationships

WHILE the garden is now bare of flowers under the chill of winter, their varied colors and forms still linger with us. This, then, seems to be a good time to consider some of the relationships that are not always so apparent on casual examination.

Plants are naturally grouped into divisions, families and generations according to certain common structural characters. Therefore, while the species belonging to the same family may seem to differ greatly in appearance, size and type of flower and manner of growth, the basic structures showing the relationship are present.

For example, let us look at the buttercup family which comprises more than 1,000 named species of plants. It includes some of our largest and most brilliantly colored garden flowers. A typical species of this family is the marsh marigold, a native here that grows in marshy places and along the trout streams, opening its rich golden blossoms in the early spring. Another relative is the hepatica, a charming little flower of the woodlands. Little do we associate these modest flowers with the large gorgeous peonies that grace our gardens, yet they belong to the same family.

ANOTHER FLOWER that belongs to this same group is the stately delphinium, although its manner of flowering differs greatly from some other members of the family. The tall spikes with long flowerheads crowded with single or double florets give a dignity to these varieties unlike any of the other kinds. The large-flowered hybrids of the clematis are included here, also. Thus, while the name of the family is taken from a modest and low growing form, it comprises some of our most beautiful and desirable garden plants and vines.

Now, let us turn to the rose family which includes a very large aggregation of trees, shrubs and various other plants. It comprises more than 2,000 species of great diversification of habits, of wide distribution, and is one of the they bear little likeness to the rose.

It would be expected that the raspberry, blackberry, dewberry and some hybrid forms would belong to the rose family, since they are sometimes called the bramble fruits. But, then, the strawberry is included, as well.

Other fruits of the family are the plum, peach, almond and cherry, often referred to as the stone fruits, owing to their relatively large seeds, or pits.

Vote Legal Despite Mixup Over Hours

ST. PAUL (AP) — A mixup over the hours polls were open during the village election at Waconia last month does not invalidate results of that election, says Atty. Gen. Robert Mattson.

City Atty. Paul Melchert of Waconia said Waconia traditionally keeps polls open from 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. in off-year elections, such as the one held Nov. 2.

stated these hours, but the local weekly paper and a radio station in a nearby town incorrectly gave the voting hours as 9 a.m. to 8 p.m.

As a result, several voters came later than 7 p.m. and demanded to vote. Officials haggled for a time, then finally opened the polls from 7:30 to 8 p.m. but set aside all these votes under a general challenge.

Upon counting the votes, the winning candidates turned out to be the same in using both the votes up to 7 p.m. and those cast in the final half hour.

Mattson advised that courts are unwilling to invalidate an election in the absence of bad faith, fraud or a constitutional violation. Since none of those things appeared to have been involved, the election should stand, Mattson said.

The American League in 1965 failed to draw nine million fans for the first time since 1955. It drew 8,880,764 fans.

Area Catches Part Of Big Snowstorm

A widespread Midwest storm which dumped snow, sleet and rain on Minnesota and Wisconsin over the weekend brought Winona its first real snowfall of the season today.

And more is predicted for tonight and Tuesday when northwesterly winds bring lower temperatures.

AREA HIGHWAYS became slippery as the snow fell and authorities issued the customary warning to drivers to exercise extreme caution.

All main roads north of a line from Worthington to Rochester to Winona in Minnesota and La Crosse to Green Bay in Wisconsin were reported slippery due to the new snow.

Patrol cars on the big interstate highways reported those routes wet but in good winter driving condition. Highway department officials cautioned motorists to watch for changing conditions as the temperature dropped.

THE weatherman predicted mostly cloudy weather tonight and Tuesday with the possibility of more snow. He saw northwesterly winds diminishing to night with a nighttime low of 18 to 25 and a high Tuesday near 32.

Cloudy with scattered light snow and a little colder is the outlook for Wednesday.

Temperatures for Winona and vicinity this week are predicted to average near normal to 2 to 6 degrees above normal daily highs of 24-30 and nighttime lows of 6 to 13.

Precipitation through Saturday is expected to total one-tenth to three-tenths of an inch mostly snow on Tuesday.

TEMPERATURES remained above the freezing mark generally in Southeastern Minnesota and Western Wisconsin over the weekend. Winona's high temperature Saturday was 42 and Sunday 43. Low Sunday morning was 36 and this morning 31.

At noon the temperature had dropped to 30.

Since the rain began Friday night 1.65 inches fell on Winona and vicinity. Had the temperature been 25 or lower nearly 15 inches of snow would now be on the ground from the weekend moisture.

All-time high for Dec. 13 was 56 in 1891 and —21 in 1903 was the low. Mean for the past 24 hours was 37. Normal mean for this time of the year is 21.

By this time last year five inches of snow had fallen. First snow was 3 inches on Nov. 20.

SNOWFALL was general over Minnesota and temperatures dropped as low as 14 at International Falls and 19 at Bemidji. Rochester had a low of 29 this morning after a Sunday high of 44 and La Crosse posted figures of 34 and 42 for the same times.

Precipitation at Rochester measured .08 and La Crosse .62. It was snowing at Minot and Fargo, N.D.

A storm center moving across WISCONSIN today brought snow, rain and a mixture of the two, and created highway hazards.

Light snow was falling at 8 a.m. in the Superior area. Elsewhere in the state skies were cloudy.

In mid-morning, the State Highway Department reported that roads in the northern quarter of the state were generally slippery due to a mixture of rain and snow.

Rain and fog covered much of the state during the weekend but the rain changed to snow in most northern sections Sunday afternoon and brought a cover of fresh snow to those areas. Wausau, Eau Claire, Park Falls and Superior all reported one inch of new snow while Green Bay had a trace.

WAUSAU measured 1.32 inches of precipitation in the 24-hour period ending at 6 a.m. today. Eau Claire had 1.17 inches, Park Falls .87, Green Bay .76, Lone Rock .48, Milwaukee .46, Superior and Racine .31, Madison 1.60, La Crosse 1.48, Green Bay 1.47, Milwaukee and Park Falls 1.41, Beloit .99 and Superior .80.

Temperatures averaged 10 to 20 degrees above normal Sunday with the Beloit-Rochester area having 55 degrees for the state high. The lowest mark during the night was 22 degrees at Superior.

THE NATION'S high Sunday was 83 at Fort Myers, Fla., and the low during the night was 10 below zero at Limestone, Maine.

Pravda Assails Red China on Viet Nam War

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union, in its bluntest tirade against Communist China since Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's ouster 14 months ago, says Peking has sabotaged the "sacred cause" of communism in Viet Nam.

The Soviet Communist party newspaper Pravda charged editorially Sunday that Mao Tse-tung's regime deliberately refused to take joint action with the Soviet Union and other Communist countries "against American aggression in Viet Nam which is extending a direct threat to world peace."

County Low in Welfare Cost Per Person

Winona County ranked well in the state for 1964 net per capita welfare costs, the county welfare board was told Thursday. Only 11 other counties had lower per capita costs.

Winona County's county cost was $6.92, compared with a state wide county cost average of $18.04. State welfare payments to Winona County averaged $19.88, compared with the statewide average of $38.76. William P. Werner, welfare department director, told the board.

The welfare board discussed new procedures in budgeting for determining allowances for public welfare recipients, as required by new federal legislation. The new standards will be applied in determining allowances based on current cost studies, Werner said.

These same procedures will help the welfare board in administration of new federal programs, which will become effective Jan. 1, 1966.

The welfare department recommended to the state re-licensing of two foster homes for care of children and presented an adoptive study, which was approved by the board, recommending an adoption be approved.

Werner also reported completion of six cases in juvenile court involving dependency hearings and mental deficiency hearings and the placement of 13 persons in proper situations to receive psychiatric care seven of which were voluntary and six were committed.

The department also asked for appraisals on two parcels of real estate as part of settlement process involving old age assistance lien claims.

Youth Shoots Himself in Hand Accidentally

A Winona youth accidentally shot himself in the hand Saturday afternoon at his home but was treated for the injury and released from Community Memorial Hospital police reported today.

Donald Husman, 561 Garfield St., was cleaning a .22-caliber rifle Saturday afternoon when the mishap occurred. Husman set down the rifle on its butt while keeping his left hand over the muzzle according to police.

A shell in the chamber discharged, and the bullet pierced Husman's hand between the second and third fingers without touching any bones. The bullet lodged in the ceiling.

Husman, a member of the National Guard, rents an apartment at the Garfield Street address. Police did not know his age.

Anti-Poverty Projects Suggested in Pepin Co.

DURAND, Wis. — A steering committee was appointed recently to implement projects under the Economic Opportunity Act or anti-poverty program in the seven-county northwestern Wisconsin area including Pepin County.

According to Dr. Evelyn Rimmel, Menomonie, coordinator, members from this county are Clem Bignell, Pepin, and Walter Harmon, Durand.

Suggested projects include: • Establishment of day care centers and/or Project Head Start for children. "They must be helped to get out of the poverty cycle," said the Pierce County nurse.

• Job counseling and training for women with less than high school education and no special skills, particularly widows or women who must support the home.

• Off-season employment for marginal farmers involving guidance, education and jobs. George Oncken, Pepin County agent, said, "We need training in chain saw operation, engine maintenance, wood pulp cutting, fertilizer uses, cement work, road building and other fields that will let persons continue to live where they are but with better wage opportunities."

• Extension of library services from home to school and establishment of home library kits which would be rotated during the year and year after year.

Damage $1,775 In Three City Street Crashes

Police reported today that three accidents on Winona streets Sunday caused three injuries — none serious — and $1,775 in property damage.

The most spectacular mishap occurred Sunday at 2:37 a.m. at East 5th and Wall streets, sending one driver to Community Memorial Hospital with a neck injury after her vehicle had been knocked into a horse at 901 E. 5th St.

WILLIAM R. Ebert, 19, 963 E. 5th St., was driving east on 5th Street when he collided with a car driven south on Wall Street by Carol A. Becker, 22, 878 E. Broadway. The Becker car was driven into the home of John R. Grochowski, knocking off some siding shingles, mangling a small evergreen and tearing up some lawn.

Mrs. Becker was rushed to Community Memorial Hospital by ambulance for X-rays. Damage to the left front and right side of the Becker car was $440, to the front and left side of the Ebert vehicle, $300.

Ebert's access to Wall Street on 5th Street was controlled by a stop sign. Patrolmen Edward E. Matthees and Joseph F. Bronk investigated. Damage to Grochowski's property was estimated at $50.

A TWO-CAR collision at 5th and Liberty streets Sunday at 8:08 a.m. caused minor bruises to one of the passengers and $875 damage to the vehicles.

Dutée Kruger, Mondovi, Wis., was driving east on 5th Street; and Thomas J. Dunning, 760 E. Broadway, was driving north on Liberty Street. Mrs. Dunning, 51, a passenger in her husband's car, was taken to the hospital by a passer-by.

At the hospital, Mrs. Dunning was treated for bruises and released. Damage was $500 to the right front of the Kruger car and $375 to the front of the Dunning vehicle. Patrolman Willis H. Wogan investigated.

CHARLES W. Gritzer, 22, Spring Valley, Minn., was driving south across Broadway on Gould Street Sunday at 1:20 a.m. when he swerved into a telephone pole at the southwest corner. Mrs. Gritzer, 21, a passenger, complained of pain after the mishap.

Patrolmen James L. Hill and William J. Gordon reported that it was raining and wet at the time of the accident. Damage to the right front of the Gritzer car was estimated at $150.

The National Council of Teachers of English named him a 1965 winner in its annual achievement awards competition. About 8,500 students had been nominated. John was one of 837 finalists representing 620 schools from 50 states, the District of Columbia and American preparatory schools abroad.

John with the other finalists was recommended for a scholarship. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Mulligan. His English teachers have been Harry Schilleff and Miss Judy Peterson.

Trucker Fined By Both Police, Highway Patrol

Two defendants pleaded guilty today in municipal court to traffic charges and paid fines imposed by Judge John D. McGill.

Norval B. Swenson, Galesville, Wis., pleaded guilty to charges of driving with a load projecting 7 feet, 2 inches, (with no flags), driving over-width by 9 feet, 5 inches (without a permit) and driving with a loose load. He paid $15 fines on each guilty plea as the alternative to a total of 15 days in jail.

Minnesota Highway Patrol made the charges in the first two instances Thursday at 11 a.m. on Highway 43 in Winona. The latter charge was made by city police at the same time on old U.S. 61 east of its junction with Highway 43.

Darlene A. Jacob, 19, Winona Rt. 1, pleaded guilty to driving in violation of an instruction permit (no licensed driver with her) at Bellevue and Dakota streets Saturday at 1:10 p.m. She paid a $10 fine as the alternative to three days in jail.

Damage $500 in Lewiston Crash

LEWISTON, Minn. (Special) — A two-car collision at the intersection of CSA 25 and the Kiese Road Sunday at 12:15 p.m. caused $500 damage to the vehicles involved, according to Sheriff George L. Fort.

Clifford J. Kleist, Lewiston, was driving north on the Kiese Road after leaving church about two miles southeast of Lewiston when the collision occurred on CSA 25 with the west-bound car of Sharon B. Langseth, 18, rural Lewiston.

Miss Langseth said that she didn't see Kleist approaching because of a dip in the road. When she did see him, Miss Langseth told Deputy Lamar Fort, she braked and swerved to the left; but she hit the Kleist car on the right rear.

Both vehicles careened over the wet blacktop into the north ditch, west of the Kiese Road. Miss Langseth humped her head as her car went 64 feet after impact, and Kleist's car went about 30 feet.

Damage was $300 to the right front and front of the Langseth car and $200 to the right rear of the Kleist vehicle.

Judge OKs Settlements In Two Cases

Judge Arnold Hatfield approved two minor settlements—for $4,800 and $4,000, respectively — after hearings today in District Court.

Bruce C. Luehmann, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Luehmann, St. Charles, won the $4,800 settlement from four defendants in compensation for an eye injury suffered June 4, 1962, in a St. Charles City park.

However, part of the settlement was won from Dale Luehmann, son of Willard Luehmann, St. Charles, a relative of the injured boy.

THE SUIT arose when the Luehmann boy was struck near the right eye by a piece of shingle discharged from a trap shooting device in the public park. He was playing with friends, including Dale Luehmann, Rolfe Smith, son of Irving Smith, and Richard Vernon, son of Wilson Vernon, when the mishap occurred.

Luehmann sued the city of St. Charles and the Smith and Vernon boys. Dale Luehmann and St. Charles Junior Chamber of Commerce (which sponsored the trap shooting device) were brought in by Vernon as third-party defendants.

The settlement approved today by Judge Hatfield orders the following contributions to the $4,800 total: City of St. Charles, $2,500; Rolfe Smith and Dale Luehmann, $2,300; Rolfe Smith and Dale Luehmann, $2,300; Richard Vernon, $100, and the St. Charles Junior Chamber of Commerce, $100.

Luehmann testified that his son's vision is now normal with corrective lenses. No permanent loss of vision occurred, he told Judge Hatfield. The Luehmann boy appeared in court to corroborate this.

Judge Hatfield ordered that the boy's father be paid $1,167.13 of the settlement to compensate him for medical expenses and that a balance of $2,164.23 after payment of other fees and costs be put in the First National Bank of St. Charles for the Luehmann boy.

Attorney Robert R. Dunlap represented Luehmann.

MISS PATTI Martimaki, 19, 579 W. Broadway, won approval of a $4,000 settlement from the insurance company of the Highway Country Kitchen restaurant for alleged food poisoning she suffered July 19 after eating a turkey sandwich there.

Miss Martimaki and her sister, Clara, of the same address, testified that the girl had been hospitalized from July 19 to 24 and again from July 25 to 31 while suffering from food poisoning. She was unable to work for three weeks, Miss Martimaki told Judge Hatfield.

The judge authorized Clara Martimaki, her sister's legal guardian, to pay the girl's medical expenses of $706 and some other bills and put the remainder in trust with the Fidelity Savings & Loan Association.

Attorney Roger P. Brosnahan represented Miss Martimaki.

A Special Little Girl Misses Dog

A tan Chihuahua female dog is strayed, lost or stolen and 10-year-old Terry Stolpa hopes she can be found.

Terry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Stolpa, 451 E. King St., is unable to look for Chiquita the Chihuahua. Terry is a cerebral palsy victim, almost completely helpless, unable to leave her bed.

Chiquita has been her close companion, sleeping within easy reach of the girl's bed. Terry, who cannot feed herself unaided, can move her hands just enough to touch Chiquita and pet her.

Since Chiquita scooted through an accidentally opened door Saturday, nothing has been seen of her. Terry has been depressed and has shown little appetite, her family notes. They are offering a reward for anyone who finds and returns Chiquita.

GOP Charges Rolvaag Should Call Session

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Gov. Karl F. Rolvaag has an obligation to call a special legislative session to consider reapportionment, say a group of Minnesota Republicans leaders.

In a statement issued Saturday, the group said Rolvaag's demand for pre-session "guidelines" is a violation of constitutional principles.

The group, which included state GOP party officers, district chairmen and chairwomen auxiliary officials such as the Young Republicans, said the governor's obligation is to call a special session and to submit his proposed guidelines to the House and Senate committees which will be redrafting the legislative districts.

The statement added that the legislature had fulfilled its responsibility by drafting a reapportionment bill last session and passing it. Now, the Republican leaders said, it is up to the governor to give the legislature its opportunity to try again.

The GOP stand noted that Rolvaag, during the last session, did not demand prior agreement on a reapportionment plan or offer any guideline.

"Now that his veto has made a special session necessary," the Republican statement said, "the governor should make his wishes known to the legislature. Instead, he is imposing conditions which interfere with normal procedures and are contrary to constitutional provisions."

"We can understand why the legislators, who are elected by and represent people in their districts, feel they cannot submit to the dictates of the governor. By doing so, they would be submitting to one-man rule and would necessarily be violating constitutional principles."

"On the other hand, if the governor refuses to exercise his authority to call a special session and allows this matter to be decided by the courts, he will fail to meet his legal responsibilities under the Constitution and his moral responsibilities to the people as governor of the State of Minnesota."

Ohioan Refused Lawyer Before Test Loses Plea

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court refused today to hear an Ohio man who claims his constitutional rights were violated when police rejected his request to consult a lawyer before consenting to a drunk test.

The case of John J. Dietz against the City of Toledo would have given the high court an opportunity to further amplify its interpretation of the 6th Amendment right to counsel.

Poor Writing Delays Mail At Christmas

"One of the biggest problems postal employees face is illegible handwriting. At Christmastime, when mail volumes skyrocket, this can become a major problem," Acting Postmaster Lambert J. Hamerski said today.

"The use of ZIP Codes by mailers does help speed up the process because often if the city and state are unreadable the ZIP Code will direct the mail to the post office from which it will be delivered."

Clerks in that post office, being more familiar with local residents, may be able to figure out the person to whom the mail should be delivered."

Another significant problem is the number of parcels delayed or actually undelivered because of poor wrapping or packing. Acting Postmaster Hamerski urged that special care be taken to see that each package is tightly stuffed and that nothing rattles around inside.

Parcels are generally shipped in bags and often heavier items rest on top of smaller, lighter packages. The postmaster encouraged mailers to be a bit cautious and insure all packages.

All parcels should be addressed on only one side and should have the address written somewhere on the inside of the package in case the exterior wrapping should come off. It is a good idea to also enclose a list of the contents.

Poor packaging and illegible or incorrect addressing accounts for about half a million undelivered parcels each year.

Chaplin Girl Chews Gum, Likes Burgers

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — The high point of my brittle and intellectual exclusive interview with Geraldine Chaplin up in her suite in the Waldorf Towers was when she swirled around and said, "Anybody care for chewing gum?"

She then popped chewing gum into her mouth . . . gripped the back of a sofa with two hands, stiffened her body and kicked her heels into the aristocratic air . . . as restless ballerinas are likely to do.

You can see from this how menacing this lovely, leggy, shapely, chaplinesque 5-foot-6, 107-pound brunette doll is going to be after she becomes world famous with the release of the film "Dr. Zhivago."

"What's your answer when people repeat the charge that your father's a Communist?" I asked Geraldine, who had just arrived from Paris and was on her way to Hollywood.

"I say 'Ask him!'" Geraldine laughed. "I don't know. But the way he lives proves he isn't a Communist . . . a huge house in Switzerland . . . A Fine Communist!"

"Omar Sharif told me that your father saw you in a ballet and said you were lousy," I said.

"First of all, Omar Sharif doesn't know my father, and second daddy's never seen me in anything!"

"Sharif also told me you get crushes on bullfighters, etc."

"YES, HE WAS right on that. I do for about a week. It's usually on people I've never met. As soon as I meet them, the crush is over."

"He also said you probably had a crush on him."

"Well, yes, I had sort of a crush on Omar."

"You've been called beatnik, a kook . . ."

"Well, beatniks have long

NASON ON EDUCATION

Holiday Effort Can Aid Pupil

By LESLIE J. NASON, Ed.D., University of S. Calif.

The Christmas holidays are a welcome breather for college and high school students. Mid-term examinations and their aftermath have drained their energy. The students need to recuperate and get set for the final spurt that ends the semester.

For the student who has done well, who has the course material fairly well organized in his mind, the holidays are happy days spent with family and friends — a time of relaxation and a time to build up mental and physical strength. This break in the rush of information is just what is needed.

But for the student who has not succeeded well, the holiday break in classes does not eliminate the worry. This student should spend at least part of his vacation period doing something about his plight.

THIS IS THE very point in the semester's work where a little well-directed effort can produce startling results. If he does nothing during the vacation period, the student will re-enter his classes in January even less prepared for the wind-up in each course than he was at the start of the vacation.

Police Break Up Melee at Movie Theater

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Some 15 squad cars and 30 patrolmen responded to the alarm when a melee broke out Sunday in a Lake Street movie theater.

Trouble started when a theater employee, an off-duty policeman, halted two youths engaged in a jostling match. Others in the audience booed the officer and some threw rocks.

Management halted the movie and police officers cleared the theater of patrons, mostly teenagers. The melee continued outside where windows of two nearby stores were broken and headlights on a parked car smashed. An 18-year-old youth was taken into custody.

DEAR ABBY:

Neighbors Didn't Bring Chicken

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Recently we had a death in our family. Kind friends and neighbors carried in much-appreciated food. But, Abby, WHY don't friends and neighbors get together and plan what they should take? After all, who can use 15 cakes, 10 pies, 12 dozen cookies and 8 bowls of jello salad? No one brought what we really needed, like chicken or meat and potatoes. With seven carloads of out-of-town relatives to feed, we finally had to send out to a drive-in for sandwiches. Don't get the idea we didn't appreciate folks sending in what they did, but at a time like that we would have appreciated some meat and potatoes a lot more. HAPPENED TO ME

ABBY

DEAR HAPPENED: Only if someone assumes the responsibility of taking charge of the food (a dubious honor for which few will volunteer), can this problem be solved. In the absence of such a coordinator, each friend and neighbor will naturally bring whatever he finds easiest to prepare and within his budget. If one inquires, "What shall I bring?" suggestions can be made. Otherwise, the recipients should accept graciously whatever is brought and provide whatever is needed, but lacking, themselves.

DEAR ABBY: I am sure that "CONFIDENTIAL TO PERPLEXED" was meant for me. Someone apparently wrote and asked if sending gifts with the price tags and sales slips enclosed was a "new-fangled custom" and if it was proper. Your answer to both questions was a flat NO!

I don't ordinarily send my gifts that way, Abby, but I have a niece who has exchanged every gift I have ever sent her, so why should I bother to gift-wrap them? The price is no secret because when she goes to exchange the gift, she finds out how much I paid for it anyway. If she's offended, it's just too bad.

Don't ask me why I continue to send her gifts. I feel compelled to because her mother was so good to me, but that's another story. Since you printed her complaint, I hope you will print my explanation. NO GIFT-WRAPPING

DEAR NO: Since you feel "compelled" to give your niece gifts, why don't you save your energy and send her a gift certificate?

DEAR ABBY: I sure got a bang out of your telling that man who didn't know the color of his wife's eyes to check her driver's license. But I don't know why a wife should get upset because her husband didn't know the color of her eyes when he probably didn't even know the color of his OWN eyes.

I am a driver's license examiner for the State of Oklahoma, and I have seen men, while filling out their applications for a license, yell, "Hey, Mabel, what color are my eyes?" I have also seen people check their wallets for other licenses to see what was put down for the color of their eyes. And in our applications, under EYES, someone wrote, "TWO." Someone else wrote "20/20" and one person even wrote "BLEW." E. E. IN SHAWNEE

CONFIDENTIAL TO MRS. F. T. R. IN HARTFORD: There is hardly a more earnest champion of teen-age morality than this writer, and because I published a letter signed "ST. ## 8 Peace Corps Workers Lost In New Mexico

MANZANO, N.M. (AP) — An extensive search continued today for eight Peace Corps trainees missing on a four-day hike through the rugged Manzano Mountains in central New Mexico.

About 40 persons participated in the search, which started after the group failed to arrive at Manzano Sunday on a 30-mile trek which began at Belen Thursday morning.

The hike is part of a 14-week Peace Corps training period of the University of New Mexico in Albuquerque. A university spokesman said the trainees were in their ninth week of training.

They were identified as Mike Mitchell, 21, the Bronx, New York City; Tom Jacobs, 23, Columbus, Ohio; Bruce McCracken, 25, Wellesley Hills, Mass.; Linda West, 28, Hurst, Tex.; Jane Whitmore, 25, Manhasset, N.Y.; Judy Johnson, 21, Pleasantville, N.Y.; Sue Selbin, 22, St. Paul, Minn.; and Bill Pastreich, 24, New York City.

Who Made Money In the Market?

A LOT OF MONEY was made — and doubtless a lot lost — in the wide swings of prices in heavy trading on the stock exchanges last week. Who made it? And how? And why did some others get caught?

Some brokers will admit that much of the sharp drop in prices Monday morning and the even larger advance last Tuesday was artificial — in the sense that stock market technicalities operated rather than any reasoned appraisal of the actual values of the stocks involved or of news events.

This view is based on belief that professional traders know how to take advantage of such wide swings — thereby tending to exaggerate and prolong them. They move quickly to make a fast buck. And they have automatic devices for cutting short a loss when an unexpected news event startles the general public.

SUCH AN EVENT was the announcement that the Federal Reserve Board was raising basic interest rates to stave off the threat of inflation. Quickly came word from the Texas White House that President Johnson disapproved because, in his view, dearer money might upset the unprecedented five-year upturn of the economy.

Many stockowners were uncertain what might come of all this — particularly what might happen to stock prices still near their record highs. Many apparently decided to sell, get out of the market with their profits, and see what would happen.

Into this situation the pros could move quickly. By dumping stocks or selling short they could force the faltering market still lower for a time — and fast. Then they could buy back fast at the bottom and pick up some quick profits.

THE EXCHANGES have specialists assigned to keep such a market from getting out of hand. But apparently some couldn't halt the sharp drop in heavy trading early Tuesday morning.

Also they were fighting a stock market technicality. The sharp drop set off stop-loss orders. These instruct the broker to sell a stock if it falls below a certain price. Such selling poured another large volume of stocks onto the market and aggravated the decline.

The reversal started within a few hours. Some of the buying was by pros who saw bargains. Some by traders who previously had sold short and saw a grand chance to make a profit. As soon as the prices started their fast recovery more short sellers jumped in as buyers, either to take profits or keep from having worse losses.

A short is one who has borrowed a stock to sell and sooner or later he must buy the stock to replace the one he borrowed. If the price has gone down, he makes a profit. When prices are rising fast, as they were Tuesday, he can lose money fast — and the higher the prices go, the more he loses.

THESE technical factors — first sending prices down faster than the news justified, and later sending them back up faster than the news did either — account for much of the tremendous volume of trading.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

Because of changes in the neighborhood, a movie exhibitor stopped showing American pictures and began featuring all Spanish programs. Old Mr. Slopkin, however, faithfully turned up every Monday and Thursday evening. "Why do you continue going to that movie house?" demanded his practical daughter. "You don't understand one word of Spanish," "Agreed," nodded Mr. Slopkin. "Did I understand English?"

Famous old Columbia football coach Lou Little tells about an All-American back who was lamentably weak in spelling. An exacting English prof threatened to declare him ineligible for the climatic game of the season but was finally prevailed upon to give him a makeup oral test on the eve of the contest. The whole squad gathered to cheer him. The star athlete missed the first word by a wide margin. "Strike one," exclaimed the prof ominously. The second word baffled him even worse. "Strike two," intoned the prof. That's when the sympathetic captain of the team called out from the back of the room, "Make the big bum pitch to you!"

By the rivers of Babylon, there we sat down, yea, we wept, when we remembered Zion. —Psalm 137:1.

TODAY IN WORLD AFFAIRS

Premier Uses U.S. Reporter

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Any reporter who goes all the way to Moscow and gets an opportunity to interview the Soviet premier is to be envied by members of his profession. But what the head of the Communist government said this week to James Reston of the New York Times — as revealed in a transcript subsequently authorized for publication — can only bring dismay and disappointment to the American people.

For Aleksei N. Kosygin used the occasion to transmit to an American audience a bitter denunciation of the government of the United States as an aggressor and as an evil force eager to make war throughout the world.

These tirades from government spokesmen have been issued before by the Kremlin, and similar criticisms are broadcast daily by Moscow over the radio and through press statements reaching far and wide. What Premier Kosygin has just said is not so important in itself, but does he really believe what he says?

WHAT TO BE SURE, motivates the Soviet mind? What are the influences that persuade as high as official as Mr. Kosygin to disregard all the facts of life and the truths of the modern world and imagine that he can paint a picture of America as an aggressor? The record, on the contrary, clearly shows countless acts of aggression committed by the Communists to which the United States and its allies have properly risen in defense. Was America the aggressor when it came to the aid of the Russian people in 1917 and again in 1941?

Some allowance has to be made, of course, for what is considered political ideology — the reliance by Soviet officials on propaganda and distortion as a means of influencing public opinion. The Russian people themselves are not getting the truth, as the Communist government keeps them from learning many things going on inside and outside their country. Where news is suppressed or censored, public opinion can be induced to accept incredible reports.

THIS CORRESPONDENT has often wondered if it would be possible some day for a reporter to interview the Soviet premier, or anyone in high office in Moscow, on a single subject — morality. What do the Communists really think is moral or immoral? How do they arrive at their standard for judging what is right and what is wrong? How would they define the word "freedom" for the individual? And do they honestly believe there is no supreme being watching over the destinies of mankind?

A government composed of men who have seized power and have the physical means of maintaining themselves in office can be an absolute monarchy. There is, in fact, little difference between the rule of the Czar and the ritualistic discipline inflicted today on the Russian people by the Communist party. If the words of the Soviet Premier are to be taken as a sincere expression of his beliefs, one wonders why the many Russians who have visited the United States have not, on returning to the Soviet Union, told their high officials how mistaken they are when they attribute to the American people and their government evil motives and a desire to upset the peace of the world.

THE COMMUNIST party may feel it can only retain power and high office for its leaders by persuading the Soviet people to believe that an attack and aggressive war are being threatened by countries which do not accept communism. Communist doctrines are the subject of bitter controversy everywhere. But there is not the slightest evidence that the American people have ever wanted to engage in a war thousands of miles away solely for the purpose of establishing colonial power or to promote selfish interests, as the Soviet premier charges.

The tragic fact is that morality seems to have been shunted aside by the Communists. If it has not, then a dialogue on what the Russian leaders really believe is or is not morality in the world of today would indeed be enlightening. For religions in all ages have taught at least one major truth — that without a better understanding of morality there can hardly be peace between individuals or nations.

THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

GOP to Ask Equal Time On State of Union Message

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — The Republican coordinating committee, meeting in Washington today, has an important argument brewing behind the scenes plus a dramatic move to win more support from American voters.

The latter is a State of the Union message by the Republican party to rival the annual State of the Union message by the President.

Republican leaders will demand equal time at a joint session of the two houses to hear either Sen. Everett Dirksen of Illinois, minority leader of the Senate, or Rep. Gerald Ford of Michigan, minority leader of the House, as the GOP can get an equal break in presenting its program to the nation.

The argument brewing backstage is over the question of "extremism" and outlawing the John Birch Society.

Gov. Robert Smiley of Idaho has already announced that he will demand a formal resolution denouncing the Birchites. But another high-ranking GOP leader, Ex-Vice President Richard Nixon, considered the spokesman for the moderates, has urged a go-slow policy. He warns that big Republican money will dry up if the Birchites are officially condemned.

SEN. THURSTON Morton of Kentucky, former GOP national chairman and the man who first spoke out against the John Birch Society, is also wavering a bit. He says it may not be necessary to pass a formal resolution.

However, some of the top governors of the nation are coming to Washington all steamed up against the Birchites. They include Governors George Romney of Michigan, William Scranton of Pennsylvania, Nelson Rockefeller of New York, and John Love of Colorado. They plan to remind their fellow Republicans of the lesson of the Goldwater defeat — namely, that the Republican party cannot temperize with extremism of either the left or the right.

They will call for a forthright repudiation of the John Birch Society and all other right-or-left-wing groups.

Therefore they will recall

WASHINGTON CALLING

Angry Cry for Martin's Head

By MARQUIS CHILDS

WASHINGTON — As though the air were not sufficiently charged with political tension, Chairman William McChesney Martin's action in casting the deciding vote for the higher interest rates ordered by the Federal Reserve Board adds a new element. The reaction of the stock market, particularly in bank stocks, makes it plain this was a well-timed financial move.

When Congress comes back there will be angry cries for Martin's head. The most impassioned screams of outrage have come from those who still speak for the Populist South and Southwest, notably Sen. Russell Long of Louisiana and Rep. Wright Patman of Texas. Theirs is the loud echo of William Jennings Bryan — the "Cross of Gold," the "Conspiracy of the Wall Street Bankers," the farmer and the working man caught in the money squeeze.

It so happens that both Long and Patman are powerfully placed to direct an attack on the Federal Reserve stockade in the best tradition of the Old West. Long has said he intends to take the chairmanship of the Senate Finance Committee left vacant by the retirement of that gracious guardian of the financial establishment, Harry F. Byrd. At the same time, Long means to keep his post as majority whip, second in importance only to that of majority leader.

AS CHAIRMAN of the House Banking and Currency Committee, Patman has kept up a constant harassing attack on Martin and "tight money." As the unadulterated voice of Populism, he is as loathed by the powers that be in oil and banking in his native Texas as he is in Wall Street.

But because of his wide-ranging knowledge of the economy and how it operates — he was for many years professor of economics at the University of Chicago — the opposition of Sen. Paul Douglas of Illinois will have a greater weight. Bankers themselves concede in their more candid moments that Douglas knows as much about the mysteries of finance and the money market as anyone in this capital, not excluding Martin himself.

Out of this background Douglas challenges the heart of the argument for higher interest rates. He contends that inflation is not a threat today since the United States has had the lowest increase in prices of any industrialized Western country. On the face of it the record is phenomenal — a 3½ percent rise in wholesale prices, using the 1957-59 level as a base.

WESTERN European countries have had rises as high as 10 and 12 percent in the same period of full or virtually full employment. Only Japan among the industrialized powers has done as well. This background will be fully developed in the investigation into the FED's action already announced by the Joint Economic Committee. Patman is chairman of that committee and Douglas is vice chairman.

It happens that Douglas is up for re-election next year. His opponent will almost certainly be industrialist Charles H. Percy, who is cast in the role of a John Lindsay — the New York City Mayor-elect — with a more moderate cast. Percy was defeated for governor last year when he got caught in the Goldwater undertow. He is young (46), dynamic, personable.

IF ANYTHING could solidify the establishment across the board in support of Percy against Douglas it is the conflict over the independence of the Federal Reserve Board and its right to determine the flow of money. Nevertheless the "Old Lion of the Prairies" — Douglas is 72 — will put on the kind of intensive town-by-town and precinct-by-precinct campaign that has won him large majorities three times. His is an informed and even a scholarly roar but it persuades the voters.

As for the struggle over

To Your Good Health

Answers To Your Questions

Dear Dr. Molner: I have a terrible pain in my right hip, and down the fat part of my leg. I have used liniments but still have the pain. What can I do?—MRS. M. D.

It sounds like sciatica — involvement of the sciatic nerve. In such a case liniment will not help. The nerve may be inflamed, or irritated, or pinched. Consult a doctor so he can identify the exact cause and prescribe treatment.

Mrs. M. L.: You are close to 50. Your hysterectomy was seven years ago. People at this age tend to put on weight even when they have not had a hysterectomy. When needed the operation is very helpful, but don't make it an excuse for other problems.

Note to H.A.: Sodium (whether in ordinary salt or other forms) is present naturally in so many foods that its entire avoidance is doubtlessly impossible. In fact, a certain amount of sodium is necessary for health. For practical purposes, then, we should think of a LOW-sodium or LOW-salt diet, but not a NO-salt diet. Just avoid: (a) salt, whether at the table or in cooking; (b) any salted foods, which includes all sorts of preserved meats; (c) any food or preparation when the label says it contains sodium. This would include certain flavoring compounds, tenderizers, "fizzing" agents.

the FED in January, Martin happens to be a poor target. Before a hostile committee chairman he can be as bland as a bowl of jelly. In the words of one of his most frequent critics, "It's like punching a piece of dough. There is no permanent impression."

WITH CLOSE ties with the financial community Martin is a man of wealth who lives modestly. He has come through many attacks with a skill that a professional politician might envy. Five more years of his term as a member of the board are still to run. Since he became chairman of the board in 1951 he has dealt with Presidents Truman, Eisenhower, Kennedy and Johnson and no one can say that he came off second best.

Partly this may be put down to the built-in independence of the FED. Whether that independence will be modified as a result of the political embroilment beginning in January it is too early to say. But the power of the FED's chairman and the banking community should never be underestimated.

Hoover Warns Of Shoplifting

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover issued a warning recently against what he termed the "scourge of shoplifting" during the Christmas season in American communities.

"Encouraged and unwittingly aided by bustling crowds and jammed stores," Hoover wrote the Winona police department, "the shoplifter and two of his lawless allies, the purse snatcher and pickpocket, are bold and aggressive."

Hoover expressed alarm at shoplifting's increase in the past five years. This crime has nearly doubled in frequency, he pointed out, since 1959. Last year, shoplifting accounted for about $5 million in stolen goods.

(The Winona police department announced last week that it would put on extra patrols in Winona stores during the Christmas season to guard against an already noted surge of shoplifting.)

Hoover urged that whole communities be alert to prevent the Christmas season's being

Ban on Prayers Appeal Rejected

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court refused today to review a ban on the voluntary recital of nursery-type prayers by public school students.

Parents of 21 New York City school children had asked the court to rule the simple non-denominational and nonsectarian prayers constitutional under the 1st Amendment guarantee of freedom of religion.

They appealed to the court after the U.S. Circuit Court in New York reversed a lower federal judge and upheld the ban the school principal had put on the voluntary prayers.

All-City Chorus, Orchestra Performs to Overflow Crowd

By FRANK UHLIG
Daily News Staff Writer

Were Winona to build a fully adequate municipal auditorium, it could be no more suitably dedicated to public use than by a performance such as Sunday night's rendition of Handel's "Messiah" at Winona Senior High School auditorium.

If an annual tradition was inaugurated, its beginnings were far from humble. The chorus and orchestra, composed entirely of city residents, were urged by Guest Conductor Harold Cooke to performance levels that a minimal schedule of rehearsals could hardly be expected to produce.

CONTENDING with fearsome acoustical difficulties, created by architecture and the presence of an overflow audience, the singers and players emerged withal as undisputed victors.

Vocal solos were ably sung by Harvin Christen, tenor, Walter Hinds, baritone, Miss Patricia Casserly and Miss Elizabeth Gunhus, sopranos, and Mrs. Frank Van Alstine, contralto.

The chorus comprised members of several church choirs and groups from College of Saint Teresa, St. Mary's College and Winona State College. A contingent of chorists from Stout State College, Menomonie, Wis., was to have participated but did not come because of unfavorable weather forecasts.

A CHILDREN'S chorus, drawn from city grade schools, sang "He Shall Feed His Flocks" with great musical poise, responding attentively to Cooke's fatherly direction, subtly accompanied by the orchestra.

Built around a core of competent strings, the orchestra achieved a quality that gave promise of much future richness. Paced by Violinists Eugene Vuicich, Milton Davenport, Emil Guenther and others, the was supplied by Mrs. Gerald Sullivan, St. Mary's College vocal music department.

HARRIS SURVEY

Americans 10-1
Against Pulling
Out of Viet Nam

By LOUIS HARRIS
As reported last week, the American people oppose a U.S. withdrawal from the fighting in Viet Nam by more than 10 to 1. And the hostility engendered by picket lines, the burning of draft cards and even the self-immolation of pacifists now runs so deep that one American in every three would deny opponents of our policies in Viet Nam the right to demonstrate.

A majority of Americans, 59 percent, take into consideration the constitutional guarantee of the right of peaceful assembly to speak out against the policies of government, but the opposition to organized dissent stems partly from the fact that many consider the United States to be in a state of war and partly from foggy ideas of the nature of civil liberties in a democracy.

Moreover, only one person in every four is willing to concede the underlying sincerity of the anti-Viet Nam policy demonstrators.

One in three regards the demonstrators as people who just want to demonstrate against something. Another one in four sees the protests as Communist-inspired. Another one in seven says the "peace-niks" are young people trying to avoid the draft.

It is evident that the anti-war movements have failed to communicate what their organizers claim to be their purpose: To rally public opinion in opposition to the shooting and bombing of soldiers and civilians in Viet Nam.

Nine out of ten Americans report that they have seen or read about the protests, but the net impact, if anything, has been to produce a firmer resolve among other Americans to continue the fighting until we can negotiate on our own terms.

A carefully drawn cross section was asked:

"Do you think people have the right to conduct peaceful demonstrations against the war in Viet Nam?"

RIGHT TO DEMONSTRATE AGAINST VIET NAM WAR

	Don't	Have	Have	Not
	Right	Right	Right	Right
Nation-wide	59	32	9
By education
Grade school or less	40	41	19
High school	59	35	6
College	81	16	3

The more educated Americans believe in the right to protest, while those with less education would deny it. Because education and economic opportunity go together, the same division occurs along economic lines.

The same schism exists in an increasing number of issues. The affluent tend to be the most tolerant and liberal; the less privileged are the most suspicious of change or non-conformity. This is the opposite of the traditional interpretation of class cleavages in American politics.

When people were asked for the reasoning behind their views, a 50-year-old mechanic in Lincoln, Neb., said, "Those kids don't know beans from butter-milk. If they're willing to take all the country can give, it looks to me they owe some loyalty to it, too." A farmer outside of Fresno, Calif., said, "People should stick up for their government whether right or wrong." In Verona, N.J., a 22-year-old office secretary said, "It is criminal to endanger the morale of our men in combat."

Such attitudes, however, remain in the minority. In Columbus, Ohio, a manufacturer's representative said, "Free speech is a right, even though I think they just do it to get attention." In McCall, S.C., a white-collar worker said, "Any citizen of the United States has the right to do pretty much as he pleases. We can object if we don't like something." And in Kerman, Calif., the wife of a ranch manager said, "Free people have the constitutional right to voice their objections — good, bad or otherwise."

When all of the volunteered comments were added up, here is the way the replies were distributed:

REASONING ON RIGHT TO DEMONSTRATE

	Total Nation %
Why do have right:	59
Constitution guarantees it	42
As long as it's peaceful	10
OK to oppose government	4
They're for peace	3
Why don't have right:	32
Subversive, revolutionary	10
Matter for government to decide	9
Demonstrations unlawful	5
Comforts enemy	4
Upsets our soldiers	4

One fact is abundantly clear: The demonstrators have not impressed the American people with either the seriousness or sincerity of their cause. The cross section was asked:

"The demonstrators against the war in Viet Nam say they sincerely think the war is morally wrong. Other people say they are tools of the Communists, while others say they are trying to get out of the draft. Still others say they are just out to demonstrate against something, and others believe they think the war is wrong. What do you think is the main reason behind the demonstrations against the war in Viet Nam?"

MOTIVES ATTRIBUTED TO DEMONSTRATIONS

Total	Grade	High	Nation School School College
%	%	%	%
Just demonstrating against something	34	27	34	39
Tool of Communists	26	36	27	20
Trying to avoid draft	14	16	16	5

Moral opposition to war

10	10	14	20
Think Viet Nam war wrong	11	9	9	15
Not sure	1	2	1

Again, college graduates are more willing to accept the moral principles behind the demonstrations and take them at face value. The less well-educated are more suspicious that the demonstrators are part of a Communist conspiracy. The biggest over-all group tends to think that the demonstrations are merely an excuse to let off steam on the part of restive young people, particularly students.

ALTAR SOCIETY

WHITEHALL, Wis. (Special) — St. John's Altar Society of St. John's Catholic Church will meet at the home of Martin Matchey, Wednesday at 8 p.m. This will be the Christmas party with an exchange of gifts.

Big Jet Lands
On Foamy Runway

OLATHE, Kan. (AP) — A jet airliner carrying 52 made a normal landing on a foam-covered runway at the Olathe Naval Air Station Sunday night after having trouble with the landing gear.

The Braniff BAC111 developed trouble after taking off from Kansas City for Minneapolis. The pilot, Capt. G.L. Parent, said the nose gear would not retract.

The two-engine jet, with 48 passengers and four crew members, turned back and circled more than two hours while foam was spread on the air station runway as a precaution.

The passengers were returned to Kansas City by bus and Braniff arranged other flights for them.

World Remembers Somerset Maugham

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — W. Somerset Maugham at 91, getting too deaf to listen to music and too blind from cataracts to read, began slipping toward death Saturday in a way that would have pleased him. He was in a coma.

Twenty-seven years ago, when he was 64 and beginning to look down the uncertain corridor ahead, this English novelist, playwright and short-story writer explained how he would like to die.

He hoped he would not be aware of death's approach, he said, or undergo its pain. Yet, he guessed wrong about the thought of growing old. He said it didn't dismay him.

"It would be a very silly person," he said, "who drew the curtains and turned on the light to shut out the tranquility of the evening."

But at 91, deaf and going blind, he was saying: "I am sick of this way of life. The weariness and sadness of old age make it intolerable."

In this spirit he approached the end of a long writing career which no one, including Maugham, considered great. He was a third-rater who made a rich living out of it. He said he had been writing for money since he was 18.

But he was a good writer, very readable, always clear and, as Clifton Fadiman said, a professional "offering" of high-grade entertainment. His hallmark is neither passion nor depth. It is good sense.

Maugham wrote 30 novels, 25 plays, 120 short stories. His best work was his novel, "Of Human Bondage," written in 1915. He thought it was his best, too.

By the time he was in his 60s, with most of his work behind him, he said he had no illusions about his place in English literature and that only two important British critics took him seriously.

In "The Summing Up," which he wrote in 1938 on his life, his work, and his outlook, he said, "In my twenties the critics said I was brutal; in my thirties they said I was flippant; in my forties they said I was cynical; in my fifties they said I was competent; and now in my sixties they say I am superficial."

"I look upon it as natural then that the world of letters should have attached no great importance to my work."

Maugham admitted his memory was bad but he said his head was always full of ideas for writing. He worked hard to improve himself, considering "simplicity not such an obvious merit as lucidity."

He regretted that he didn't have someone "with good sense" to direct his reading when he was young. But he traveled the world in search of experience for his writing. He warned writers to seek experience, not to wait for it.

This was why he condemned one of his contemporaries, Henry James, for standing at a window. In "Tellers of Tales" — a collection of short stories he edited — he said James "failed of being a good writer because his experience was inadequate and his sympathies were imperfect."

Maugham, in expressing lack of illusion about the merit of his work, called himself a "teller of tales round the fire."

Youth Killed While Crossing Race Track

QUITO, Ecuador (AP) — Cristofal Aguilar, an 18-year-old spectator, was killed Sunday when he attempted to cross the course and was struck by a car during the City of Quito six-hour auto race. Fausto Merello won the race.

Some of this country's 608 National Historic Landmarks are federally owned and administered but most are state, community or private property.

Yugoslavia Has Generation Of Beatniks

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — After 20 years of communism, Yugoslavia is making the painful discovery that it has a generation of beatniks on its hands.

Stealing cars for thrills — and often smashing them up for extra kicks — has become a fad among Yugoslavia's swinging youth.

Beatle hairdos are the rage. Youngsters fill the night clubs. They snap up the latest record imports from the West, couldn't care less about socialist preachings, and generally carry on like young people revolting against the establishment.

Parents despair, newspapers denounce and legislators make tougher laws. Despite everything, Yugoslavia's youngsters insist on going their own way.

Imitation by Yugoslav youth of their Western counterparts began several years ago, when Britain's Teddy boys were much imitated here.

As prosperity increased and Yugoslavia moved ever further away from the strict conduct of conventional communism, the youthful trend toward independence spread.

The country has never seen anything, however, like the car theft fad. Hundreds have been stolen in recent months by youngsters who take them for joy rides, abandon them after a day or so or smash them into trees.

Thrill thefts have become so numerous that the Belgrade Politika Ekspres has started a free column of missing-car announcements for unlucky owners trying to trace their stolen machines.

Informal Living Emphasized in Ranch

By ANDY LANG

A three-bedroom house often is limited in size because it is intended for a family of four. But if two of the four are active, growing children, they will demand as much space for play and informal activities as a larger home would offer.

At the same time, most parents want as much good living area as the larger home has.

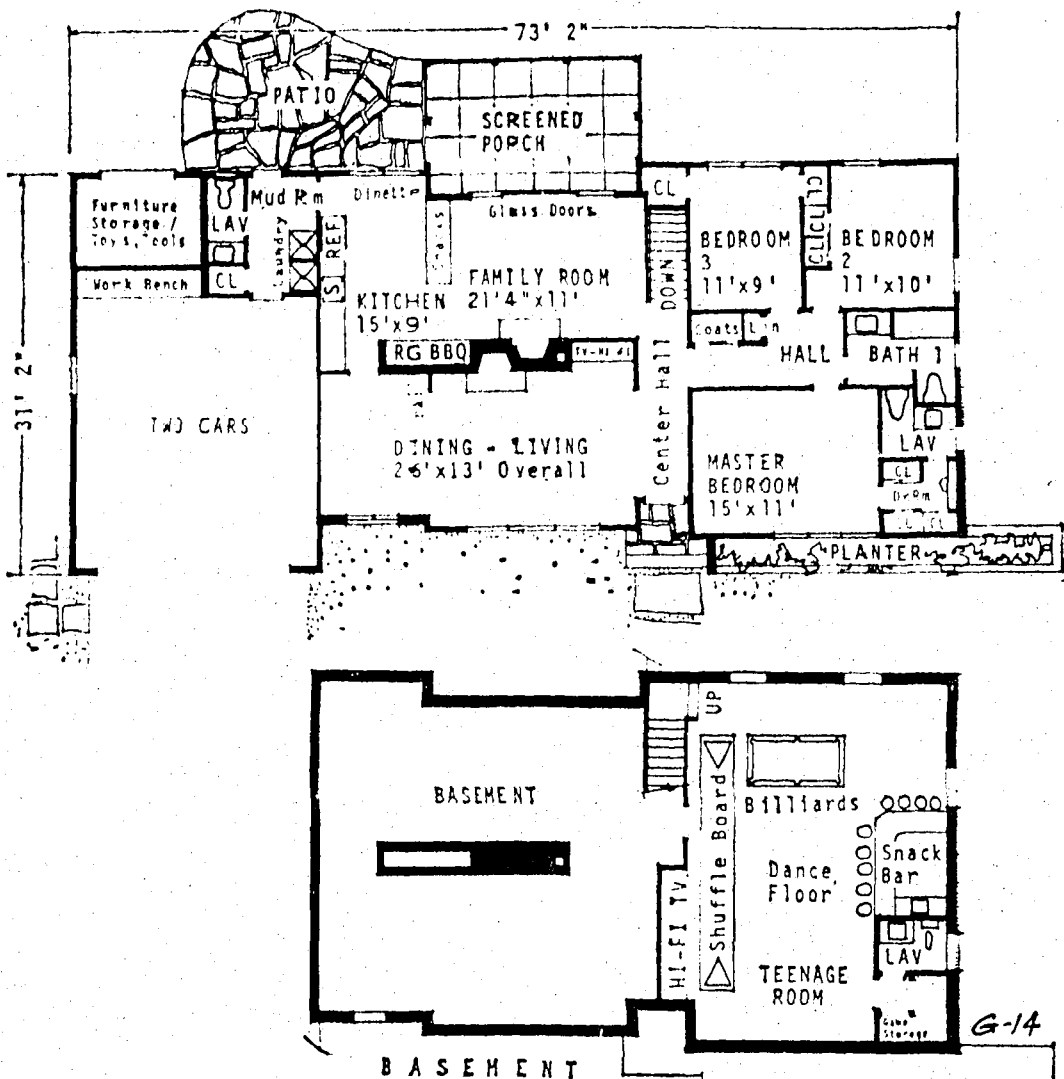

Based on many requests for this kind of "big" thinking for a smaller family, architect Lester Cohen has designed this attractive, good-living house with enough space for junior and senior members of the household.

By constructive use of the space, he has handled it in a moderately-budgeted home. The square foot area is 1,400, excluding the mudroom, lavatory and laundry section behind the garage.

A high spot in the area planning is the kitchen-family room, stretching over 30' at the back of the house. For the kitchen

COMFORTABLE RANCH... Severity of design that sometimes characterizes ranch is absent in this three-bedroom house, which has an inviting look on the outside and which features a combination of formal and informal living areas on the inside.

FLOOR PLANS... Family room, screened porch and patio are intended for informal living; combined living room-dining room takes care of formal occasions; finished basement room provides place for parties, meetings and game activities.

Krause Plans New Office, Showroom

A permit for construction of a new office and sales building at the F. A. Krause farm equipment company at Breezy Acres off Highway 61 was issued last week at the city engineer's office.

The permit was drawn by Kenneth Krause for a 50-by-64-foot building that will be used for office facilities, showroom area and other purposes. Cost was estimated at $14,000 and the building will have gas-fired forced air heating. George Karsten is the contractor.

E. H. Kreckow, 278 W. 4th St., received a permit for a $350 remodeling job.

LaVerne Decker, 609 Center St., was issued a permit for construction of a garage addition at an estimated cost of $100.

THE TOTAL valuation of permits issued this year now stands at $7,057,702, compared with $6,824,719 at the same date a year ago.

There have been 28 permits for new houses this year, far below last year's figure of 53 at this time.

Permits for GAS-FIRED installations were taken by: Henry Harders, for David Martin, 521 E. King St.; Henry Chaplin, 955 W. 5th St.; Lawrence Blagsvedt, 1002 W. King St.; Ervin Gernes, 1073 W. King St.; and Larson Bros., at 1505 and 1711 Monroe St. Sanitary Plumbing & Heating, for Badger Foundry, 164 W. 2nd St. Frank O'Laughlin Plumbing & Heating, for Herb Kiebusch, 550 W. 4th St.; Mike Rustad, 209 1/2 E. 3rd St.; Darol Lee, 772 Wilson St.; Robb Bros. ## Man Unconscious For Nine Years

ROCHESTER, Minn. (AP) — Kenneth Reiken, 27, has spent the last nine years unconscious in a Rochester nursing home. Reiken suffered a head injury Nov. 4, 1956, when the car in which he was a passenger missed a curve and crashed near Wykoff, Minn.

The man's widowed mother, Mrs. William Reiken, moved to Rochester and got a job here so she could be near her son. She said Kenneth's doctor tells her that her son apparently never will recover consciousness.

ties of abrasive papers available, the principle is always the same: the finer the grit, the less of the wood surface is taken off. And this is what you want in that final sanding and for those between-coats. Only a very light pressure is used in the direction of the grain.

IT is one of the curious things about sanding that most persons, when they first begin this important step in wood finishing, find it difficult to sand in a straight line. This is especially true after the first few minutes of sanding, when it begins to get a little monotonous and the process becomes rather mechanical.

Teachers in woodworking in high schools say they constantly have to remind their students to sand in a straight line, since the hand and arm have a tendency to wander off course.

That Sanding Job — Get Right Paper

Look at the figures on the millions of dollars worth of power sanders sold every year and you would be convinced that nobody sands by hand anymore.

That is, until you look at the figures on the million dollars worth of ordinary hand sandpaper sold every year.

A FLAWLESS surface is the basis of a truly fine finish on wood. When using a clear finishing material — varnish, lacquer, shellac, synthetic or whatever — the finest product in the world and the most efficient techniques will not hide a surface that has been improperly prepared.

In some cases, the tiniest of scratches will assume gigantic proportions after a clear finish has been applied.

Power sanders are indispensable for anyone who works a lot with wood, especially for the initial sanding. It saves time. It saves labor. And it accomplishes results that the novice could not have hoped for many years ago.

BUT WHEN it comes to that super-fine finish just before the first coat is put on, most master cabinetmakers — and apparently most amateurs — still rely on sanding by hand. A very fine grade of sandpaper also is preferred by the hand-sanders for the necessary smoothing between coats.

While there are many varieties of abrasive papers available, the principle is always the same: the finer the grit, the less of the wood surface is taken off. And this is what you want in that final sanding and for those between-coats. Only a very light pressure is used in the direction of the grain.

IT is one of the curious things about sanding that most persons, when they first begin this important step in wood finishing, find it difficult to sand in a straight line. This is especially true after the first few minutes of sanding, when it begins to get a little monotonous and the process becomes rather mechanical.

READYING LIBRARY... Mayor Glenn Haukeness, Strum, measures green pastel walls for library shelves in the new municipal building. Note the fine grain in the oak paneling back of him which covers two walls in the reading area. (Mary Perham photo)

New Municipal Building Set For Use at Strum

STRUM, Wis. (Special)—The new Strum municipal building is completed and will be used by both the village and the Town of Unity for meetings and fire fighting equipment.

The northwest corner of it will house a new library. Fronting on Main Street, it is 27 by 27 feet. Two walls are covered with oak paneling, the reading tables to be located in this area. The walls behind the bookshelves are pastel green. The floor is covered with green and white vinyl tile. The lighting is indirect.

Tessmer Construction, Neillsville, fitted out the library. The village board hopes to have it open for the public by Christmas. Open house will be held sometime in January.

Mrs. Maurice Hanson, cook at the Chimney Rock School, will be the librarian. The board will pay her approximately $100 a month. The library will be open Wednesday afternoons from 2-4 and Saturday afternoons, same hours, and Saturday nights, 7-9.

Another improvement in Strum's business section is a new front on its bank, a branch of the Bank of Osseo. Remodeling of the interior is in progress. Olbert Construction Co., Mondovi, has the contract. The improvement will cost about $8,500.

30,000 at Toy Dance for Children

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Police were called to untangle the mass that developed when an estimated 30,000 teen-agers tried to do the frug at a dance for underprivileged children Sunday.

Six teen-agers had to be helped to the sidelines of Freedom Hall which seats 18,000 for basketball. Five returned to the dance floor after they caught their breath. One was taken to a hospital for X rays. More than 20,000 toys were collected.

Martin Defends
Reserve Board
Interest Raise

WASHINGTON (AP) — William McChesney Martin Jr., chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, said today its interest-raising action will help the U.S. economy and any delay would probably have required stronger measures.

Martin also told the Senate House Economic Committee that his independent agency had kept President Johnson's administration continuously informed.

"There has been a continuing frank exchange of views between the Federal Reserve and administration officials, both before and after the board's actions," he said.

The action, taken by the board a week ago, raised by one-half of one per cent the discount rate that determines the cost of borrowing money. It was deployed by President Johnson and others and there was special criticism of the timing of the move, since federal budget information will be available in just about a month.

Some of the Federal Reserve Board members who voted against the interest charge, in a 4-3 split, joined in the criticism.

Unions Demand
More in Wages,
Fringe Benefits

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — AFL-CIO leaders demanded today a bigger slice of the nation's wealth for workers, a federal curb on the prices of some key commodities, and a 50 per cent increase in Social Security benefits.

In resolutions certain to be gavelled to quick approval by about 1,000 delegates to the federation's 10th anniversary convention, AFL-CIO policymakers also rejected White House wage guidelines and called for bold federal policies to create jobs and boost consumer purchasing power.

"A faster rise in wages and fringe benefits is needed to broaden and strengthen the mass markets that are the foundation of the economy," one resolution said.

Federation leaders also suggested income tax cuts for low- and middle-income families, and elimination of taxes altogether for those under the government's poverty income level of $3,000 a year.

The effects on the economy of 1964 and 1965 tax cuts have "almost completely worn off," the proposed resolution said.

In recommending a 50 per cent increase in Social Security benefits, federation leaders said the base on which Social Security taxes are assessed should be increased from the present $6,600 to $10,000 a year, supplemented by extra money from the federal Treasury. The cost should not be charged to future generations of workers and employers, they declared.

Social Security benefits now average about $92 per month for a retired single worker and $137 for a married couple.

The recent 7 per cent increase barely covered the increased cost of living, the federation said.

AFL-CIO leaders said medical care benefits under Social Security — which do not go into effect until next July — should be improved and extended to surviving widows and children.

Sex on Campus Report
Brings Clashing Views

NEW YORK (AP) — Should college administrators worry about their students' sex lives?

A report by a group of psychiatrists says they shouldn't, provided sexual activity is "practiced with appropriate attention to the sensitivities of other people."

An Associated Press survey of campus opinion today found much interest, but little agreement, concerning a report by a committee of the Group for the Advancement of Psychiatry, a nationwide organization.

Most college administrators who had read the report and were willing to comment on it approached it cautiously.

"It's a very liberal view, a little too far-fetched for me," said Thomas F. Jones, president of the University of South Carolina. "I can't be very detached about our young people's concerns and needs."

At the University of Michigan, Richard L. Cutler, vice president in charge of student affairs, said:

"These people are professionals and entitled to their own opinion, but the University of Michigan at this time is not prepared to follow their advice."

Their advice, in essence: Make explicit the school's attitude towards sexual conduct and set up a "sound rules structure," but don't interfere unless sexual activity "fails to maintain privacy" and "is likely to be disturbing to others."

"It sounds like a good, sensible, down-to-earth statement of the situation," said William Speer, associate dean for student counseling at Massachusetts Institute of Technology. "I am all in favor of anything that meets the issue head on, rather than with pussy-footing."

DEJECTED AFTER 27-7 LOSS TO VIKINGS

Gilmer Raps Team for Letting Down

DETROIT (AP) — Though he could have blamed the rain and a sloppy field for his team's poor showing, Detroit Lions' Coach Harry Gilmer instead took a slap at the players.

"It was just a matter of one team wanting to play and another not," Gilmer said after the Lions lost a 27-7 decision to the Minnesota Vikings Sunday.

Most of the game was played in a steady rain which kept the field muddy and hampered the running game of each team if not so much the passing.

"A team's passing should have the advantage under these conditions," Gilmer pointed out. The way they keep changing the ball now, it's not hard to throw or catch.

"And a receiver has a better chance to move than a man trying to keep his footing while trying to defend against him."

"I'm talking in general terms now, not about my team," Gilmer said disgustedly.

"We were showing some improvement in our last few games but we slipped back as far as we could go today," he lamented. "We were kicked in the pants from both ends (offense and defense) and didn't do a thing about it."

"It's just the natural thing when you start talking about trying different players at different positions. No one plays."

He referred to some lineup switches.

Rookies Tom Nowatzke, a fullback, and end John Henderson started for the Lions but neither showed much because of the Lions lack of offense.

The Lions picked up 29 yards rushing and 106 through the air. Minnesota had 75 on the ground and 199 passing.

Tom Myers came in at quarterback in the last quarter and Ed Sharockman intercepted his second passing attempt and returned it 40 yards for the final Vikings' score.

The Lions penetrated Minnesota territory but two times in the game.

Vikings' Coach Norm Van Brocklin came to the defense of his former assistant and chided the Detroit fans.

"If the people don't quit booing the Lions, they'll never play well. That booing takes the heart out of them."

Sayers Punches 49ers All Alone

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Vince Lombardi's hunch turned Paul Hornung loose on a five-touchdown spree in Sunday's National Football League power struggle at Baltimore but it was a right guess by Green Bay linebacker Dave Robinson that turned the corner for the Packers.

Hornung, given a reprieve by Coach Lombardi after languishing on the bench for two weeks, responded with an offensive binge that vaulted Green Bay past the crippled Colts 42-27 and into the lead in the NFL's Western Division stretch run. A defensive gem by Robinson, however, provided the momentum as the Packers all but shattered Baltimore's title hopes.

The loss dropped the Colts one-half game behind Green Bay and one-half length ahead of Chicago, which stayed alive by smashing San Francisco 61-20 as rookie flash Gale Sayers bolted for six touchdowns. The Packers can wrap it up by beating the 49ers in next Sunday's finale, regardless of how the Baltimore-Los Angeles and Chicago-Minnesota games turn out.

The Rams upended Cleveland's Eastern Conference champions 42-7; the Vikings beat Detroit 29-7; the New York Giants topped Washington 27-10 and the Philadelphia Eagles trounced Pittsburgh 47-13 in Sunday's other games. Dallas whipped St. Louis 27-13 Saturday.

Robinson, a third-year pro from Penn State, came up with the big play for Green Bay in the final minute of the first half.

Petersen Point Production Off

By BOB JUNGHANS
Daily News Sports Writer

There have been some worried looks around Winona State College basketball circles in the last week. And the No. 1 question that has brought on the furrowed brows is, "What's happened to Gary Petersen?"

But one of the worried faces doesn't belong to Warrior coach Bob Campbell.

Petersen, normally one of Winona's highest point producers, has scored only 22 points in the last three Warrior contests, far short of his usual average.

Campbell has an explanation for the dropoff, however, and he doesn't expect it to last long.

"It's true Gary isn't scoring," said Campbell, "but the reason is the shift back to a guard spot. He's setting up the offense and setting up shots for the others instead of being set up himself."

"We don't feel it will continue. We think he will start to contribute when he gets used to the moves as a guard. It's just a matter of time."

Petersen played guard his freshman year at Winona State, but was switched to forward his sophomore year. He has been in the corner ever since until a week ago when the Warriors played Lorain.

Tonight, Petersen will be at guard again when Winona entertains Hamline University in a 7:30 p.m. game at Memorial Hall.

The Warriors will be gunning for their third victory in eight outings, trying to rebound from a 104-80 beating at the hands of South Dakota State Saturday night.

"We just ran into a good, hot shooting team," said

Houston in 82-57 Rout Of Badgers

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — The Houston Cougars ripped off 15 straight points in a three-minute span early in their encounter with the University of Wisconsin and raced away for an 82-57 basketball victory Saturday night.

The Badgers lost the ball on thefts five times and had six shots blocked during the siege of futility.

Wisconsin, its record lowered to 1-2, returned home soundly whipped and went through a Sunday afternoon workout to try to prepare for its Big Ten opener at Madison against Illinois Tuesday.

It was the Cougars' first victory in four games.

Houston led 10-9 when the Cougars suddenly clawed Wisconsin with the 15-point outburst. Leary Lentz contributed eight points toward building the margin to 25-9 before Mike Carlin finally counted a field goal for the Badgers.

Six-foot-nine Elvin Hayes blocked the six shots himself. Don Cruse stole the ball from Wisconsin three times.

Houston surged on to open a 24-point lead before Wisconsin trimmed it to 49-34 at the half behind the efforts of Carlin, Mark Zubor and Dave Roberts.

Carlin was high for Wisconsin with 12 points. Zubor, Roberts and Ken Barnes each contributed 10.

Shula: 'Doesn't Matter Much'

BALTIMORE (AP) — "As racked up as we are, I don't think it really matters" what happens in the final National Football League games, Coach Don Shula of the Baltimore Colts said after the Green Bay loss.

That was after he said stoutly, "We still have a glimmer and have to go out and win Saturday" at Los Angeles. Then the Packers would have to lose the next day at San Francisco for the Colts to recapture the Western Conference title.

But when Shula thought of the injury jinx which has descended in force on the Colts, he shuddered. They may even have to play Los Angeles without an experienced professional quarterback.

Gary Cuozzo, trying to fill in for John Unitas, suffered a slight left shoulder separation early in the second half against Green Bay Sunday. He returned to direct two touchdown drives in the last quarter, but a decision is awaited on whether he should play the last game.

If not, then backup Tom Matte steps in with only slight game experience at quarterback. He was in for one series against Green Bay and moved the Colts 34 yards by running. He then missed on two passes and the next was intercepted.

Offensive tackle Bob Vogel also came up with an injured ankle and flanker Jimmy Orr had to be replaced for a spell by Alex Hawkins.

Ordell Braase was back at end and Don Shinnick at linebacker on defense for the first time in several games. "They hung in there, but..." commented Shula.

Most of the dressing room talk after the 42-27 victory by Green Bay was about a Cuozzo call at the end of the first half.

With second down on the Packer two, he tried to lob a pass to fullback Jerry Hill. Linebacker Dave Robinson intercepted, ran to the other 10 and the Packers scored.

The Colts were trailing only 14-13 at the time.

"It was a bad decision on Gary's part," said Shula. It was a gamble and he didn't have to. He should have just rammed it in there."

Cuozzo himself defended the call. "It was just bad execution," he said.

Shula blamed the defense, particularly in letting Paul Hornung loose for two touchdown passes, more than the offense for the loss.

"There is no way to excuse it, the defense just blew it," he said.

In the first period, Hornung was all by himself in taking a pass and running it over for a 50-yard play. In the last quarter, when the Colts had pulled to within 35-27, Hornung caught a 15-yard pass, broke away from a tackler and ran 50 more yards for another touchdown.

"If you don't cover a guy it's not hard for him to get into the end zone," Shula said disgustedly.

ern Division stretch run. A defensive gem by Robinson, however, provided the momentum as the Packers all but shattered Baltimore's title hopes.

The loss dropped the Colts one-half game behind Green Bay and one-half length ahead of Chicago, which stayed alive by smashing San Francisco 61-20 as rookie flash Gale Sayers bolted for six touchdowns. The Packers can wrap it up by beating the 49ers in next Sunday's finale, regardless of how the Baltimore-Los Angeles and Chicago-Minnesota games turn out.

The Rams upended Cleveland's Eastern Conference champions 42-7; the Vikings beat Detroit 29-7; the New York Giants topped Washington 27-10 and the Philadelphia Eagles trounced Pittsburgh 47-13 in Sunday's other games. Dallas whipped St. Louis 27-13 Saturday.

Robinson, a third-year pro from Penn State, came up with the big play for Green Bay in the final minute of the first half.

The Johnny Unitas-less Colts trailed 14-13 but were driving for a go-ahead touchdown behind reserve quarterback Gary Cuozzo. With the ball on the Green Bay 2, Cuozzo dropped back and lofted a flat pass in the direction of fullback Jerry Hill.

But Robinson, anticipating the pass, drifted to his left, reached up and picked it off — then raced 87 yards to the Baltimore 10. Bart Starr fired a TD pass to Boyd Dowler on the next play, boosting the Packers' halftime bulge to 21-13 and Hornung picked up the pieces.

The three-time NFL scoring king ran for three touchdowns and tallied on 50 and 65-yard pass-run plays from Starr. The over-all performance gave Hornung a club record for TDs in a single game.

Until Lombardi gave him the green light against the Colts, Hornung had scored only three touchdowns and had lost his starting job to Elijah Pitts. "It was a hunch — but Hornung's a pressure player," the coach said of his decision to start the eight-year veteran Sunday.

With Unitas on crutches — result of a mangled knee inflicted by the blitzing Bears last weekend — and Cuozzo slowed by a shoulder injury in the second half, the Colts' attack couldn't keep pace with Hornung and Starr, who completed 10 of his 17 pass attempts for 222

Wiltgen Looks For Director

By GARY EVANS
Daily News Sports Editor

The search is on at St. Mary's College.

Ken Wiltgen needs a take-charge guy to direct his basketball team.

"More than anything else, I realize now how much we miss (graduated captain, Mike) Maloney out there," said the Redmen coach, who Saturday watched his team falter 66-61 to Gustavus Adolphus in its first MIAC start.

The Gusties, probably to insure no further injury to guard Phil Rogosheske's ankle, came out in a surprise zone defense. Then when Rogosheske left for a rest, the Gusties went man-to-man.

"Their zone surprised me," explained Wiltgen, "and I'm sure it surprised the players because we certainly didn't handle it. But we didn't handle the man-to-man either. We showed we hadn't played against it."

"They bottled up Roger (Pytlewski) and he didn't shake loose. It makes a difference when you haven't anyone to set things up and run them."

Now the question is, how severe were St. Mary's title

Augsburg Cops Easy MIAC Win

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Defending champion Augsburg launched its Minnesota Intercollegiate Athletic Conference basketball season with a one-sided win over Concordia Saturday night, while Gustavus Adolphus and St. John's also claimed wins in their league debuts.

Augsburg led by Ed Nixon's 24 points, zoomed to a 48-33 half-time lead en route to its 95-73 win over the Cobbers. Bob Laney had 14 for Concordia.

Gustavus, pegged as a leading title threat, beat back a late rally to subdue St. Mary's 66-61. The Gusties led 36-24 at halftime but St. Mary's tied the game at 56-all with 4:56 left. Bill Loumann had 25 counters and Al White 18 for Gustavus. Tom Keenan tossed in 25 for the Redmen.

St. John's survived a late scare to top Hamline 73-63. Tom Melancon collected 17 points and Bob Thibedeau 15 for the winners. For Hamline, Al Frost had 20 and Dave Polson 16.

Macalester of the MIAC dropped an 81-76 decision to St. Olaf of the Midwest Conference. And Winona fell to South Dakota State 104-80.

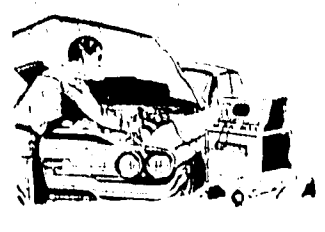

Bemidji and Mankato of the Northern Intercollegiate Conference split against non-league foes.

COLT SCORE . . . Halfback Lennie Moore, 24, of the Baltimore Colts drives into the end zone for a touchdown in the second quarter Sunday against the Green Bay Packers in Baltimore. Green Bay won, 42-27, to put off a decision on the western division championship in the National Football League another week. Identifiable players are: Green Bay—Willie Wood, 24; Lee Roy Caffey, 60; and Lionel Aldridge, 82. Colts—Bob Vogel, 72, and Raymond Berry, 82. (AP Photofax)

Travenio (Who He?) Is Chargers' Big Star

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The San Diego Chargers have wrapped up their third consecutive Western Division title in the American Football League, and there's little doubt that a key but overlooked factor has been Herb Travenio — the postman for whom they had to ring twice.

Paul Lowe became the first two-time 1,000-yard ground gainer in AFL history and Keith Lincoln, Lance Alworth and John Hadl played their usual roles for the Chargers. But it was Travenio who provided the crucial points with his place kicking in Sunday's title-clinching 37-26 victory over stubborn Houston.

The Oilers led 19-14 in the third period when Travenio was put to work. He kicked a 32-yard field goal, then came back early in the fourth quarter and kicked a 12-yarder that put the Chargers ahead 20-19. The Oilers, however, quickly regained the lead 26-20 on George Blanda's third touchdown pass.

But the Chargers bounced back again, moving 76 yards before Hadl plunged a foot for the tying points. Travenio added the conversion for a 27-26 lead, and followed minutes later with another 32-yard field goal that put it out of Houston's reach.

All things considered it was a most successful day — and it's been a most successful season — for Travenio, a 34-year-old third-year pro who skipped college, refined his football know-how in the U.S. Marines and was found by the Chargers working in the local post office.

Travenio caught on with San Diego last season but eventually was also dropped by the Chargers and went back to his post-office job. When injuries depleted San Diego's kicking corps this season, the Chargers rang for the postman again.

Travenio has responded with 37 conversions without a miss.

Winning? Something to Holler About at Osseo

OSSEO, Wis. — When a school hasn't had a winning record in eight years, you can expect the fans to become a bit hysterical when things start to bounce in the right directions, and that's the case at Osseo High School.

The Chieftains last won more basketball games than they lost in 1957, when the current crop of cagers was in the lower echelon of the grade school system.

But this year, Osseo has romped off to five straight victories. If No. 6 is to be chalked up Tuesday night, it will be the biggest one of the season because the Chieftains travel the 10 miles to arch-rival Eleva-Sturm, the defending Dairyland Conference champion, for an 8 p.m. clash.

"We thought we'd have a pretty good club," said Osseo coach Harold Mulhern, "but we didn't think we'd be undefeated at this point."

The string of triumphs caught Mulhern somewhat by surprise, but the second-year coach does have an explanation.

"Our kids have picked up on defense," he said. "Last year (when the Chieftains posted a 6-17 mark, 3-11 in the conference) we were last in the conference in defense. This year we're right up near the top and that's the difference."

Although not big by current standards, the Chieftains do have adequate size. Tuesday night's starting lineup will have 6-3 Lyle Sell at center. Sell, an all-conference performer last year, leads the team in scoring. At the forwards will be 6-0 junior Jerry McNallie and 6-2 senior Darel Hanson. The guards are a pair of juniors, 5-8 Dave Nelson and 5-11 Ken Jacobson. Tim Brozman, a 6-4 senior, and Steve Nelson, Dave's twin brother, are the two first line reserves.

The size situation will be about even between the two teams with Eleva-Sturm's front line going 6-2 all the way across. Last year the Cardinals won all 14 conference games and are off and running again this year with four straight victories, two in the conference.

Mulhern feels that to win the crucial contest his team must stop Roger Tollefson and Tim Bue, both 6-2 Eleva-Sturm front liners. "This Tollefson was all-conference last year. He's their key kid. He can shoot from anywhere," said Mulhern. "And Bue is tough, too. If we can contain those two we should do all right."

Besides the full round of conference games in the Dairyland, two other league tilts are slated for tonight, and they are important ones.

Conference favorite Kenyon tries to move into a first-place tie with Kasson-Mantorville in the Hiawatha Valley in an 8 p.m. game against once-beaten Cannon Falls. The game is at Cannon Falls.

And in the West Central, Arkansas enters Taylor in a battle for second place.

Paint Depot '5' Moves Into 1st In Pee Wee Loop

Paint Depot rolled into first place in the Park-Rec Pee Wee basketball league Saturday, slashing previously undefeated McKinley Methodist 31-18 to post its third consecutive victory.

Coca-Cola moved into a second-place tie by blitzing American Legion 17-8, while Winona Hotels won its first game of the campaign by dropping Sunbeam 10-8 in overtime.

Todd Taylor and Rick Massie each bagged 10 points to lead the Paint Depot assault, while Don Florin had eight for Coke. Greg Zaborowski paced Winona Hotels' victory with six markers.

BANTAM

Central Methodist opened its season with a 36-29 victory in the Park-Rec Bantam basketball league, while Redmen Club was handing Sunbeam its first loss 19-10. The combined outcome left Central Methodist atop the league with three squads tied for second.

Bob Browne rammed in 15 points and Pete Harwick 10 to pace Central Methodist. Tony Winczewski bagged a dozen for the losing Athletic Club. Gary Wenzel's eight paced Red Men's victory. Jim Zaborowski had six for Sunbeam.

Richards Is Fired by Houston Club

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Paul Richards, who came to the Houston Astros as general manager in 1961 to build up the club, is on the outside looking in today, but he isn't bitter.

Roy Hofheinz, owner of the Astros, fired Richards Sunday and replaced Field Manager Luman Harris with Grady Hatton, manager of Houston's Oklahoma City farm club in the Pacific Coast League.

Tal Smith, special assistant to Hofheinz, was named director of player personnel. Smith and Hatton will share Richards' former duties and the general manager title will be retired.

"The judge thinks that Grady and Tal can run the club better than our group," Richards said at a hurriedly called news conference set up by Hofheinz. "That's 100 per cent okay with me."

"It's his team. He wasn't satisfied with the progress of the team."

Hayfield in First Alone In Wasioja

Wanamingo	2	2	0
West Concord	2	2	0

Hayfield moved out front in the Wasioja Conference by tripping previously undefeated Wanamingo 75-62, and Dodge Center stumbled to its second loss in a row, this time falling to Byron 40-35 in a rare round of Saturday conference games.

West Concord also lost a chance to gain ground by being dumped by Claremont 59-49, while Dover-Eyota tumbled to its fourth consecutive loop loss, 56-45, at the hands of Pine Island.

BYRON 40 DODGE CENTER 35

Dodge Center, still reeling from a loss at the hands of Wanamingo Friday night, lost to a determined Byron five 40-35.

Byron grabbed the lead at the outset and managed to hang onto the slim margin with Merlin Cordes firing in 18 points and Mike Hodgson 10.

Fred Kraeger's 11 paced Dodge Center's usually high scoring attack.

PINE ISLAND 56 DOVER-EYOTA 45

Dover-Eyota was minus its entire starting unit via enroute or another during the final period and lost to Pine Island 56-45.

With 6-3 ace Ron Zitow out for the second straight night with illness and another starter gone because of an ankle sprain, Friday night, Dover-Eyota still managed to take a one-point lead in the final period after playing catch up ball all the way.

But then the three remaining healthy starters went to the bench because of fouls and Pine Island chalked up the triumph.

Wayne Carney bagged 21 and Don Millering 17 for the winners, while Curt Bergdorf was the only Dover-Eyota player in twin digits with 18.

CLAREMONT 59 WEST CONCORD 49

West Concord couldn't take advantage of several first-half opportunities and tumbled to Claremont 59-49.

Claremont scored only 20 points in the first half, but West Concord shot a miserable 30 per cent and could manage only a 25-20 margin. And according to West Concord coach Lorry Gunthos, "They just outscrapped us in the second half."

Jim Warner's 17 paced Claremont, while Pat Smith had 16 for West Concord. Aces Leon Charlton and Dan Hutton were held to six each in the cold shooting night.

HAYFIELD 75 WANAMINGO 62

In the battle of unbeaten, Hayfield demonstrated why it is ranked as one of the teams to beat in Region Two with a 76-62 triumph over Wanamingo.

But it took a last quarter rally to post the triumph. Hayfield had led 39-27 at half but saw the margin shaved to 51-50 by the end of three periods. But the Vikings posted a 23-12 margin in the final period to wrap it up.

Mark Fredrickson hit 22, Larry Edlund 18 and Don Proeschel and Gary Fritz hit 15 each for Hayfield. Grant Hoven paced Wanamingo with 20. Dean Hoven hit 14 and Tom Foley 10.

Beck Gets 30 But Main Bows In City Play

Watkins Dumped Main Tavern despite Fred Beck's 30 points to highlight the opening round of City Basketball League action Sunday.

Watkins posted a 79-56 victory to knot itself at the top of the heap with Williams Annex, which downed Lewiston 63-46, and First National Bank, which pounded Montgomery Ward 50-33.

Beck fired in 30 for Main Tavern, but he didn't get much help. The balanced Watkins attack was led by Jack Benedict with 14, Roger Westrick with 13 and Tom Von Feldt with 12. Von Feldt enabled Watkins to control the backboards.

Williams Annex broke away from a slim 25-22 halftime lead to post its easy victory. Bob Larson meshed 15 and Tom Stallings 12 for the winners. Lewiston was led by Sandy Henry with 13 and Ron Erdmann with 10.

The story was nearly the same in the First National Bank-Montgomery Ward game. First National broke away from a 17-13 halftime mark to post the victory. Chuck Goersich had a dozen and Charlie Hagen 10 for the winners. Perry King was cited on defense for his winners.
